The following mail was sent on the Mariposa: 738 letters and 248 papers.

The tax assessor has a notice to the public in this issue regarding payment of taxes.

The Fourth will be properly celebrated by the men on board the U. S. S. Boston.

Among the cargo of the Warimoo is a case of exhibits from Sydney for Chicago.

Ka Leo is advising native families who are attacked by the gripple to go to the doctors at once.

Dr. C. A. Lundy will leave by the next Australia for a trip of several months in the eastern States.

The Hawaiian Hardware Company has a strong testimonial in this issue which refers to a new idea in fences.

Robert W. Boyd has resigned his position in the survey department on account of a reduction made in his salary.

Mr. W. E. Rowell, Superintendent of Public Works, was a passenger for Makaweli by the steamer Pele last Saturday.

A Cowboy's Record.

Mr. Stevens, the noted half-white cowboy of Waimea, Hawaii, Sam Parker's ranch, has returned home by the Claudine. Mr. Stevens gave an exhibition a few years ago at Waimea to satisfy visitors of his lassoing abilities. He mounted his horse, lassoed a wild bullock, dismounted to tie the "critter" up, and remounted his horse, all within 27 seconds. The record has never been beaten.

A Big Haul.

Report comes from Maui that the natives made a large haul of the fish called skule during the early part of last week at the port of Hana. Nearly 20,000 fish are said to have been caught, the bulk of which were dried and forwarded by the steamer Claudine on last Friday, to be sold in the Hamakua (Hawaii) market.

More Lawyers.

Alfred W. Carter, formerly second deputy clerk of the supreme court, returned Friday by the steamship Alameda, after an absence of two years attending a law school in the East. A. G. M. Robertson, who went with Mr. Carter to study law, will return in the near future. Mr. Carter will open a law office in this city.

MAUI NEWS.

The Iao Saloon Fire—A Party at Haiku—A Dance at Haleakala, etc.

At 11:15 o'clock, during the morning of June 29th, all Wailuku was alarmed by the announcement that Iao saloon and adjoining buildings were burning rapidly. A feeble attempt to stay the progress of the flames was made by passing water in buckets from the neighboring taro patches; this was futile in the extreme, as the doomed premises was a regular tinder-box, well seasoned and prepared to be gulped down the maw of the ruthless fire.

At 12:30 p.m. everything was completely consumed—the saloon and most of its contents, the billiard parlors on the Wailuku side, the two Chinese stores toward Waiehe, and a poorly-constructed native dwelling in the rear. The destruction began in the billiard rooms; it was presumably caused by some natives or native cooking their mid day meal in a 5 gallon oil tin. Young Young, the owner of the sample room and its furnishings, had time only to remove his money and papers from the safe and a few kegs and bottles of liquors. He lost $500 worth of cigars, all his 4th of July liquors, and a large quantity of Chinese confections. However, it is reported that he carried an insurance of either $2500 or $3500, so he did not feel deterred from opening up a bar room on the opposite side of the street immediately.

The other structures were the property of Mr. J. W. Kalua, and were uninsured. The total loss is estimated at upwards of $4000.

This conflagration is a self-evident argument that Wailuku should have a fire engine. If that had been the case on Thursday last nothing but the billiard parlors would have been destroyed, and several thousands of dollars worth of property could have easily been saved, as there was water in plenty in the river near by, and the only requisite lacking was a proper instrument to apply it. With two such disasters as the burning of the Wallbridge house and the Iao saloon following each other in quick succession, the government surely should immediately favor Wailuku, as its sister village (Hilo) has been recently favored. If the Honolulu fire department have any machines to spare, Maui people would be much pleased as well as relieved to have a fire-extinguisher in Wailuku.

A PARTY AT HAIKU.

During Thursday evening, June 29th, about thirty of the young people of Makawao temporarily assembled at H. P. Baldwin's residence, and when all was ready, wended their way to Mr. and Mrs. Dickey's, completely surprising Frank Baldwin of the Oakland High School, who has been making a short visit among his old friends during the past week. With a bevy of pretty girls (Makawao has a large number just at present) and a dozen and more glib young men, it goes without saying that the hours passed merrily and that the age of the amusements on the evening's programme never came into question.

DANCE AT HALEAKALA.

During last evening, June 30th, a large dancing party took place in Haleakala Hall, Makawao, through the courtesy of Miss Paris. All the fair maids and a number of the comely matrons, together with a strong contingent of the dancing men, made the affair an enjoyable success. The usual bunting being in Wailuku—about to do duty on the night of the 4th—ferns and ti leaves unaided, gave a curious though pleasing effect to the hall's interior. The music was satisfactory, the atmosphere cool and animal spirits at a high pressure; hence there is but one description to append to the evening's festivity, which ended at the "wee sma' hour" of 2 a.m. Mrs. Ehlers of Honolulu and Misses Cunningham and Chillingworth of Wailuku were among the strange faces present.

STAY SCRIBBLING.

The coming 4th bids fair to be most glorious, both in weather and events, on this side of Maui.

The June evening of the Makawao Literary Society was postponed one month on account of the illness of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Loveland, at whose residence the gathering was to have been held.

The following is authoritative: The convention of Maui teachers will be held at Wailuku during July 29th and 31st, at the Union School House. During the a.m. of Thursday the programme announces an inaugural address, by H. S. Townsend; "Primary Work in Language," by Miss M. R. Nape; and "Methods of Teaching English to Hawaiians," by J. A. Moore. In the p.m. H. Dickinson will talk on the "Tonic Sol-Fa;" Wm. E. Saffery about "Reading," and then miscellaneous questions will be discussed.

During the a.m. of Friday, the events are: "First Steps of the Tonic Sol-Fa Method," by Miss E. Maudon; "Penmanship," by Miss M. De Carmo; and "Written Arithmetic," by Benj. Kahoopa. In the afternoon, Miss R.

E. Crook will speak about "School Discipline;" J. I. Damas about "Nature Studies in Elementary Schools," and then the meeting will take up reports, etc.

Short discussions will follow the presentation of each subject.

Teachers and others interested in education are cordially invited to be present and to take part. Attendance at the convention may be considered as obligatory on the part of Wailuku and Makawao teachers.

The thanks of the Makawao polo club are due Mr. Wallace, of Kohala, on account of the presentation of a dozen fine sticks.

La gripple is disappearing very slowly. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Beckwith, of Haiku, have been afflicted—the former quite severely.

Mr. Benner, of Honolulu, departed on Tuesday, after a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. Ogg, of Paua.

A thousand invitations have been issued for the annexation ball to be held at Wailuku skating rink on the night of the 4th. Eight pieces of the national band will furnish the music, and the train will run from Paua.

Sugar is piling up at the Paua warehouse and the arrival of the J. D. Spreckels which occurred yesterday is hailed with pleasure by Makawao planters. Capt. Christensen made the trip in 11 days and brought enough merchandise for ballast.

Mr. Jas. Anderson has been improving all the week.

The Makawao church will give a picnic on the 4th.

"Staggers" among horses are beginning to show again.

Tax time has come and money is very tight on Maui.

Weather—Warm and delightful.

Maui, July 1, 1893.

FIRED THE UMPIRE.

Baseball Game With Twelve Innings and a Kick.

One of the most exciting games of baseball played this season took place last Saturday afternoon between the Hawaiis and the Kamehamehas. The attendance was quite large, and the enthusiasm was proportionately great. The Kamehamehas won the toss and went first to the bat. Messrs. M. K. Keohokalele and J. O. Carter Jr. were the umpires.

The presence of "Kahai," who was formerly captain of the Hawaiis, worked dissatisfaction in the ranks of the students, but their bad feeling on that account was evidently unfounded, as the umpire's decisions seemed impartial. Catcher Baker of the "Kams" also exhibited some anger, which was very distasteful to the audience.

Meheula pitched the entire game for the Kams, while Kaee of the Hawaiis was supported by Palmer Woods in the fifth inning.

Both teams were a tie at the eighth innings. The Kamehamehas then went up in a body and made complaints against Keohokalele's decision, and the umpire left the game in a rage. Carter umpired the rest of the game. The teams were still tie in the eleventh innings, but in the next, the Kams scored, and the Hawaiis failing to make any runs, the students were declared winners by a score of 6 to 4. The score by innings was as follows:

Kam.....0 1 0 0 0 3 0 0 0 2-6

FROM KALALAU.

TWO LEPEERS ARRESTED AT THE WAIMEA PASS.

The Murderer Drives Them Out.

Arrival of the Waialeale—Word From Sheriff Willis—Stolz's Last Letter.

Soon after the arrival of the steamer Mikahala from Kauai yesterday morning various rumors were circulated regarding the arrest of the lepers at Kalalau. Captain F. S. Chaney of the steamer Mikahala, on being interviewed, gave the following account:

Last Saturday morning, while the steamer Mikahala was about to leave Makaweli harbor for Nawiliwili bay, a telephone message was sent over from Waimea by Mr. Hoffgaard stating that two of the lepers from Kalalau were captured on the pass leading to Waimea by Acting Deputy Sheriff O. Blackstad, his son and six policemen. The lepers were said to be on their way to Waimea to procure provisions for their party, and were seized by the scouts. The arrest probably took place during Friday night. The report did not state whether the captured lepers were armed or not. Probably the arrested men were not aware that the pass was guarded or they would have cut another trail of their own to Waimea.

The steamer Waialeale arrived at Hanalei on Saturday, and after a brief stay proceeded with the expedition to Kalalau the same afternoon. Probably the Waialeale reached Kalalau during Saturday evening, as it was only a few hours' steaming from Hanalei. No definite news, however, has been received of the landing of troops.

The steamer Mikahala left Nawiliwili on Saturday afternoon, and, up to her departure, nothing was heard of the proclamation declaring martial law in the districts of Waimea and Hanalei.

Captain Chaney, from what he had heard at Makaweli and Nawiliwili, believes that the majority of the leper will surrender except, perhaps, Koolan and his wife. The other lepers do not wish to fight against the law. Koolan, however, had stated that he would never surrender while he lives. According to Mr. Copp, of Koloa, and several others who are personally acquainted with Koolan, he is a daring and courageous man, who holds his life lightly.

A correspondent from Kilauea, dated June 30, writes: "Koolan is still at Kalalau, and he dares death, but before he dies, he says he will surely kill another deputy sheriff. The kamaanas of Kalalau are all at Hanalei now, and are being quarantined by the police. Several men, we hear, are guarding the Waimea pass, and it is currently reported that Koolan has gone up the sierras to meet them."

By the Mikahala which arrived yesterday the government received a short letter from Sheriff G. N. Wilcox to Marshal Hitchcock, stating that the Waialeale arrived Saturday morning at Hanalei, en route to Kalalau. He states that both the passes to the valley of Kalalau are guarded. Deputy Sheriff Willis had been detailed to supervise the guard at the Waimea pass, and the Hanalei pass had already been placed under the charge of Deputy Sheriff Deverill.

In conversation with an advertiser reporter, Attorney General Smith stated there was a report that after the Waialeale had sailed with Stolz's body for Honolulu, the murderer Koolan had issued a proclamation to the other lepers in the valley ordering them all to join him, and any who refused to do so to leave the valley at once. It is said that two of the lepers left Kalalau by the Waimea pass and were arrested by the guard.

By yesterday's mail the president of the board of health received the following letter, which was probably the last the late Sheriff Stolz ever wrote:

KALALAU, June 26, 1893.
Hon. W. O. Smith, President of the Board of Health.

SIR: I have to report that I arrived here in Kalalau Saturday, June 24th. I found on arrival that eighteen of the lepers had decamped for parts unknown, including J. Kauai and others who had agreed to go peacefully to Molokai. I understand they are scattered through the woods at the head of the valley. Only four lepers remain quietly at home, but, one of those in hiding has already made propositions concerning his return to his own house. I will hurry up things as fast as possible and report progress as it occurs. Respectfully yours,

L. H. STOLZ.

Agent Board of Health.

In further conversation with Attorney General Smith last night it was learned that at the last moment the government had altered the limit of surrender in the proclamations to be issued at Hanalei and Waimea districts, extending the time from twenty-four to forty-eight hours. Mr. Smith stated the government hoped that the lepers would all come in within the limit, but still did not feel confident and would not be surprised if further trouble occurred.

A CHILD BURNED.

Small But Disastrous Fire Near Kawaiahao Church.

An alarm of fire was rung in last night at 8:30 o'clock, which was promptly responded to by the fire department. The blaze was a small but disastrous one, which occurred in one of the small wooden structures on Punchbowl street, opposite Kawaiahao church.

The only occupant of the building at the time of the disaster was a little five-year-old half-white girl named Ellen Boy, who was sleeping on a bed in the house. All the adults belonging to the household were in a separated building at the time eating their supper.

Shortly before the fire occurred a native went into the room where the girl was sleeping, and after lighting an old lamp without a chimney, placed it on a table near the bed, and passed out again. A few minutes afterwards cries were heard coming from the house. Those who were at supper in the other building ran into the yard, and could see through the open door that the netting of the bed was in a blaze. The little girl Ellen was struggling to extricate herself from the burning net, and was uttering cry after cry.

One of the natives ran into the room, and, after some difficulty, succeeded in rescuing the child from the burning bed and carried her into the yard. The poor child's face and nose were badly burned, and her hair was entirely burnt away, while her arms and legs were so badly scorched that she presented a terrible and pitiable spectacle.

An outburst of native wailing was set up by the child's relatives. Everything that could be done for the little sufferer was performed by willing hands, and she was at once removed to the Queen's Hospital, where she received proper medical attention.

The house belongs to a native named Lokana, and is occupied by William Boy, the father of the child. The fire was extinguished by those present before the arrival of the fire department. A large number of people attending service at the Kawaiahao church were present at the fire.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH

Meets and Passes a Resolution on the Death of Sheriff Stolz.

The board of health held a called meeting last Saturday afternoon at 3 p.m., at which several matters of routine business were attended to and several communications were read.

The following resolution was ordered drafted and spread upon the minutes of the meeting, a copy to be forwarded to the wife of the dead sheriff:

RESOLUTION.

That it is with great sorrow that the members of the board of health have learned of the murder of Mr. L. H. Stolz, agent of the board, on the 27th ultimo, while performing duty in the service of the board at Kalalau, Kauai; and they desire to express their appreciation of his fidelity and courage, and their deep sympathy with his afflicted family.

Another Vancouver Steam Service.

With a view to afford the government an opportunity of testing the possibilities of trade with Canada, the Union Steamship Company, the present contractor for the San Francisco mail service, has intimated that it is prepared to extend the existing service from San Francisco to Vancouver. The distance is but 800 miles or so, thus making but two and a half days' steaming longer than the run from Sydney to San Francisco. From an economical point of view, the present contractors argue that the adoption of this proposal would be infinitely better than by specially subsidizing a direct line. Also, by accepting the Union company's offer the government would be able to test, say after a period of six months or so, what the actual possibilities of trade are between the Great British-American Dominion and Australia without committing the colony to any such serious liability as is at present under consideration in respect of the Canadian-Australian service. — Sydney Herald, June 6.

KNOCKED OUT.

A MILL AT THE "ALOHA" BOAT HOUSE.

One Hundred Dollars Put Up and Twenty Men Present.

A glove fight to the finish was held last Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the "Aloha" boat house between Jack Marks of the U. S. S. Boston and Nick Barowitz of Honolulu. The mill was for $100 a side and was the result of a challenge issued some time ago by Barowitz to any man of his weight for any sum from $100 to $500 for a fight to the finish under the Marquis of Queensbury rules.

After considerable talk the fight was arranged by interested persons, and on last Saturday at the time mentioned about twenty men gathered at the "Aloha" boat house, and promptly at 4 o'clock the men stepped into the ring.

First round.—The men began slogging at once, and after a few passes Barowitz landed his left on Marks' nose and broke that useful and ornamental organ. With his right he landed another blow on the sailor's left eye and opened a gash along the bone, which bled freely.

Second round.—Marks came up at the call of time, and after nearly two minutes sparring, suddenly landed on Barowitz's jaw, knocking him into his corner. Had Marks followed up his advantage he could have made a knock-out, and his delay lost him the battle and his money.

Third round.—But little sparring was indulged in before Barowitz hit Marks twice in the face on his broken nose and once on the jaw—the last blow knocking him out in 2 minutes and 18 seconds.

The battle was fought without police interference. This is the second man from the Boston that Barowitz has knocked out since his short residence here.

War in Tarawa.

King Tiburemoa, the ruler of the British Gilbert Islands, is alive and still kicking, according to the latest reports brought from the group by the schooner Viking, which arrived Tuesday morning. His anxiety to be an American citizen seems to increase with time, but he feels he is hoping against hope.

The British Commissioner was expected to arrive on June 1st from the Fiji islands and assume authority over the Gilbert group. The king took his daily constitutional ride over his coral-rock race course six miles long, but nevertheless manifested great fear of having a British boss.

"Everything was very quiet when we left the islands," said Captain Dennevig. "Business was dull to nothing. I called at one or two of the islands, but what was the use of calling at more? We did not get a full load of copra, but we brought up what we could get hold of. Trade is very dull at the Gilbert islands, so how can any one expect a vessel to do a rushing business?"

Advices received by the Viking state that a civil war is going on in the island of Tarawa, south of Butaritari. The native kings and their forces are daily coming together in conflict, and much blood is spilt. The internecine war has been going on for several months past, and there was no prospect of a cessation of hostilities when the Viking sailed.

People in these localities eat one another, and if the subjects are young they are in great demand, whether roasted, broiled or stuffed. — San Francisco Chronicle.

Hawaiian Safe Deposit.

The Hawaiian Safe Deposit and Investment Company announces that it will transact all business connected with stocks, bonds and securities, real estate, loans and investments, and will act as agents for the collection of rents, coupons, interest, etc., for people either here or abroad. The company expects to open its new safe deposit building on Fort street, about August 1st, and will rent its vaults to business men and others at a moderate price.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—The coinage of the Columbian souvenir quarter dollars was begun at the United States mint in this city this afternoon.
